DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-20 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

- 2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
 - The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
- 3. Claims 14-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. As per claim 14, Applicants are claiming "a computer program ... comprising ... web database source servers ...", it is indefinite because a computer program comprising servers is not clearly explain (it appears that the Applicants intend to claim a system).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 5. Claims 1-4, 7-11, 14-17 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Blewett [US Patent No 5,835,718].

Art Unit: 2154

6. As per claim 1, Blewett discloses the invention as claimed including in a World Wide Web (Web) communication network with user access via a plurality of data processor controlled interactive receiving display stations for displaying received Web documents accessible from database sources on the Web [i.e. local computer system allows local user to access data storage of a remote computer system] [Figure 1; and col 3, lines 40-58], a system for simplifying the Uniform Resource Locators (URLs) displayed for each received Web document comprising:

service provider means for accessing Web documents for said receiving display stations responsive to user requests [i.e. a local-paper.com machine in being served to the local user] [8, Figure 1; col 3, lines 49-59; and col 4, lines 16-21];

Web database source servers [i.e. regional computer system] [10, Figure 1; and col 3, lines 50-54], responsive to service provider requests including:

means for accessing requested Web documents from said Web database sources [i.e. access a data storage unit on the other computer system network 10] [14, Figure 1; col 2, lines 52-62; and col 3, lines 50-54], and means for defining the URLs for said accessed Web documents to include a URL domain section and a URL path portion within the database source [i.e. domain name, directory path] [col 3, lines 17-24; and col 4, lines 1-4]; and means in said service provider to convert the original URLs of said accessed Web documents to include a domain section specifying the service provider's domain and a path portion within said service provider's domain simpler than the original URL path portion [i.e.

rewriting URL from regional-paper to local-paper] [22, Figure 2; Abstract; and col 4, lines 13-16 and lines 27-44].

- 7. As per claim 2, Blewett discloses wherein said path portion in said converted URL is shorter than the path portion in the original URL [i.e. 127.html vs. regional-today.html] [col 4, lines 27-33].
- 8. As per claim 3, Blewett discloses wherein said means for defining the URLs for said accessed Web documents dynamically generate said URL path portion [i.e. rewriting URLs on the fly as they pass through] [col 4, lines 13-27].
- 9. As per claim 4, Blewett discloses wherein: said means for converting said original URLs are optional [i.e. if desire to leave the user's environment unchanged] [col 4, lines 51-56]; and further including means enabling an authorized user to activate said optional means for converting said original URLs [i.e. determine if access to the remote URL is to be granted or denied] [col 5, lines 24-29].
- 10. As per claim 7, Blewett discloses means in said service provider for respectively reconverting said converted URLs back to the original URLs [i.e. determine actual URL] [30, Figure 2; and col 4, lines 38-44]; whereby Web document requests directed to said converted URLs will respectively be transmitted through the service provider to the database sources on the Web [col 4, lines 33-56].

11. As per claims 8-11, they are rejected for similar reasons as stated above in claims 1-4.

12. As per claims 14-17 and 20, they are rejected for similar reasons as stated above in claims 1-4 and 7.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 13. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 14. Claims 5, 6, 12, 13, 18 and 19 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Blewett [US Patent No 5,835,718], in view of Weller et al. [US Patent No 7,149,797].
- 15. As per claim 5, Blewett does not specifically disclose means in said service provider to charge a user a fee for activating said means for converting an original URL. Weller discloses means in said service provider to charge a user a fee for activating said means for converting an original URL [i.e. monthly service charge or fee] [col 6, lines 65-col 7, lines 6; and col 7, lines 13-20]. It would have been obvious to a person skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the teaching of Blewett and Weller because the teaching of Weller would allow customer to have access to and can make available to participating content providers one or more of the content delivery services available from the global CDN without having to provide the large capital investment [Weller, col 2, lines 19-35].

- 16. As per claim 6, Weller discloses wherein said user activating said means for converting is a host of a Web database source defining the original URL [col 4, lines 27-31; and col 10, lines 34-46].
- 17. As per claims 12 and 13, they are rejected for similar reasons as stated above in claims 5 and 6.
- 18. As per claims 18 and 19, they are rejected for similar reasons as stated above in claims 5 and 6.
- 19. A shortened statutory period for response to this action is set to expire 3 (three) months and 0 (zero) days from the mail date of this letter. Failure to respond within the period for response will result in ABANDONMENT of the application (see 35 U.S.C 133, M.P.E.P 710.02, 710.02(b)).
